

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tape carrier in which a plurality of semiconductor elements can be mounted. The tape carrier includes a base tape on which device holes are formed and a plurality of leads provided on the base tape, wherein inner lead portions, which extend from the periphery of the device hole toward the center of the device hole, are of different lengths.